NEWS RELEASE

San Juan County EMO Announces Wednesday Closure of Bottled Water Station Near Aztec

AZTEC, NM – San Juan County will be closing the bottled water station at McGee Park on Wednesday, July 13, 2016, according to a press release issued by the county’s Emergency Management Office on Monday afternoon, July 11.

The station was originally part of the Red Cross Cooling Center opened to assist residents affected by the Animas Valley Water System outage, and has remained open while donated water was still available.

McGee Park and the City of Aztec will continue to provide drinking water to those under the “Water Boil Advisory” via RV fill stations available at the following locations:

- McGee Park – Ask at the Guard Shack for directions after hours – Open 24 hours
- Aztec City Hall – Chaco St., beside the old rose gardens – Open 24 hours

McGee Park will also continue to make showers available to those under the “Water Boil Advisory” between the hours of 5 a.m. and 8 p.m.

For more information on the Animas Valley Water System “Water Boil Advisory,” visit the New Mexico Environment Department web site at: <https://www.env.nm.gov/dwb/avwer.htm>.
